Former Morgan County Judge James Phipps, left, and the present county judge, Gene Allen, moved a few spadefuls of earth at groundbreaking ceremonies last Saturday for the new West Liberty Hospital. The two county judges have been strong supporters of the project. Judge Phipps was judge when the project was begun.

Ground Broken For New Hospital

It was a cold, rainy day, but nearly a hundred were out Saturday for the official groundbreaking for the new area hospital at West Liberty on Wells Hill.

"Even in this bad weather it is a joyous occasion," said Commonwealth Attorney Ralph N. Walter, master of ceremonies, as he opened a brief program for the occasion.

Then he called upon Rev. James Allen, pastor of the Index Community Church, to invoke blessings of the Great Physician.

Mrs. Curtis K. Stacy, an early proponent of the project, moved the first spadeful of earth, using a gold-painted spade.

And Mrs. Florence Murray, widow of the late Dr. Hershel B. Murray of the former West Liberty Hospital, moved the second spadeful, using another gold-painted spade.

Then the two county judges who had helped in the long campaign to finalize the project — Judge Gene Allen and former Judge James Phipps — moved a few spadefuls. Phipps was county judge when first plans were made for the facility, and Allen is the present county judge. Both have been strong supporters of the project.

Mr. Walter said it would be impossible to recognize the many others who had helped with the project, including the hundreds who contributed cash to raise nearly $40,000. But he recognized public officials who had helped, including Dr. Morris L. Peyton, chairman of the hospital board; Senator Joe D. Stacy, Representative Joe W. Haney and members of the Fiscal Court and hospital board.

Mr. Walter also acknowledged the great help of Kentucky's two Senators, John Sherman Cooper and Marlow Cook, and Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins in the long campaign to secure federal funds for the hospital.

All three had been invited to attend the groundbreaking, also Governor Louie B. Nunn, but they found it impossible to attend. Congressman Perkins sent his regrets in a telegram which Mr. Walter read.

Representing the architect, Donald L. Shelton, Architects, and Associates were John Vanderheid and William Daniels, who were introduced.

The groundbreaking took place just 10 days after contract was awarded for the 50-bed facility. Grover Frederick, head of the Frederick & May Construction Co. of West Liberty, the successful bidder for the facility, said last week that work will be commenced almost immediately on preparation of the site on Wells Hill and preparing site drawings and ordering materials. He expects to have the hospital ready for occupancy in 24 months. It will be a two-story structure with 20 beds for acute care and 30 beds for extended care, emergency room, x-ray, laboratory and other facilities and will be modern in all respects.

Costing $1,344,000, the facility is being financed by a county bond issue of $425,000 voted in 1968, and by two federal grants — one of $396,667 from the Hill-Burton Fund and one of $464,000 from the Appalachian Regional Commission, also by local contributions of nearly $40,000.

West Liberty and surrounding areas have been without a hospital since the death of Dr. Hershel B. Murray, who operated the West Liberty Hospital until his death.

BLUE DEVILS DEFEAT GARRETT BUT FALL TO DILCE COMBS, 103-85

The Morgan County High Blue Devils ended their pre-Christmas net schedule Tuesday with a 63 win-loss record.

After downing Garrett for their sixth victory last Friday, the Devils fell victims to a strong Dilce Combs team Tuesday evening at Hazard, falling to the Panthers, 103-85.

The Devils started cold, fell behind early as they made numerous floor errors and trailed 26-12 at the end of the first period.

Adding to the Devils' woes was the Panther forward Hall, who blistered the nets for 33 points, most of them from the outside. The Panthers had two other starters in double figures, Combs with 18 and Ferguson with 15.

Turning in respectable scoring performances for the Devils in their losing effort were center Jim Hill with 27, guards Tim Keller and Mike Blanton with 24 and 16, respectively, and forward Cliff Smith with 10. James Wallin added 4 and Mike Jenkins and Steve Ratliff got 2 each.

Against Garrett last Friday at home, the Devils, after performing well throughout the first three quarters, blew a 14-point lead in the fourth period, but regained their cool in the final minute and a half to win, 65-63, on a tie-breaking shot in the last three seconds by forward James Wallin.

Garrett, off their pace in the first three periods, came alive in the fourth to outscore the Devils, 18-6. Garrett tied the score at 61-all with 3:15 to go in the game, then went ahead 63-61 with less than three minutes to go and attempted to freeze the ball. However, the Devils regained possession and center Jim Hill tied it up, 63-all with 1:26 remaining. Garrett failed to score on their next trip down court and on the turnover the Devils froze the ball and waited for one final shot. With three seconds to go, guard Tim Keller fed the ball to Wallin under the bucket, Wallin scored, and the game was over.

Center Jim Hill paced the Devils with 25 points, followed by Keller with 15, Blanton 10, Cliff Smith 9, and Wallin 6. The Devils will resume action at home Jan. 5 against Hitches.

BURLEY MARKETS WILL REOPEN ON WEDNESDAY, JAN. 6

The Burley Sales Committee met on Monday, December 21, in Lexington to determine the re-opening date for the burley tobacco market in the eight state Burley Belt.

Reynolds Bell, Chairman, announced that the Sales Committee considered all conditions existing on the burley tobacco market and determined that the burley market would re-open on Wednesday, January 6, 1971, and sell on January 6, 7, and 8, then resume the pre-Christmas pattern of selling on the first four days of each week thereafter until the market closes.

HENDRIX CONLEY OF MOON PASSES

Hendrix Conley, 57, Moon, was dead on arrival Saturday at a Morehead hospital.

Born July 29, 1913, at Wrigley, he was a son of the late John and Nancy Susan Conley Conley.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lizzie Keeton Conley; a brother, Woodrow Conley of Isonville, and a sister, Mrs. Pearl Ward of Findlay, Ohio.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the New Salem Church at Dock's Creek with Elder Jesse Smith and Elder Lige Smith officiating. Burial was in the Ison Cemetery at Moon, with Herald and Stewart Funeral Home in charge.

BLIFFEN TO HOST HOLY LAND TOUR

World-wide Group Tours, Inc. has invited Steve Bliffen, minister of the First Christian Church, West Liberty, to host a tour to the Holy Land and Athens. During the 10-day tour, he will be lending spiritual guidance and assistance to the group.

Jerusalem will be the first city to be visited. Other places to be seen will be the Mount of Olives, Mount Mariah, the Garden Tomb, Bethany, Jericho, the Dead Sea, the Garden of Gethsemane, Bethlehem, Samaria, Nazareth, the Sea of Galilee, Capernaum, Mt. Carmel, Caesarea, Athens, Mars Hill, Corinth, and many other locations.

The cost of air travel alone from New York is $700, but Mr. Bliffen can secure the trip for anyone interested, including transportation, hotels, meals, tips, professional guides, etc., for only $599. Also, there is a "go now, pay later" plan available.

The trip is so complete that one can leave New York with $10 in his pocket and return with it, unless he spends it on souvenirs, Mr. Bliffen said.

Xmas Tree Sale Nets $100 For Orphanage

Mrs. Georgia Stamper's Young People's Class at the Methodist Church realized $100.00 from their sale of Christmas trees, and the $100 was contributed to the Dora Lee Children's Home as a Christmas gift. Mrs. Stamper and the young people wish to thank those who bought the trees in this project.

Holiday Greetings Ads In This Edition

As in the past, many local business places have placed holiday greeting ads in this week's Courier—the last issue of 1970. Look them over. Most of these folks are regular advertisers in this newspaper. All strive hard throughout the year to serve the needs of their Morgan County neighbors, and the greetings ads are their way of saying "Thank you for your patronage."

CHRISTMAS DOOR WINNERS NAMED

Winners of this year's door judging contest were announced Tuesday by Mrs. Selma Allen, president of the West Liberty Garden Club, which sponsored the contest.

First prize of $5.00 was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Perry for the door decorations at their home on Keeton Heights.

Second prize of $3.00 went to Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Vest of Riverside Drive.

Third prize of $2.00 was awarded to Mrs. Rosalind Emrick, who resides on Glenn Avenue.

The Garden Club, which sponsors the judging each Christmas season, wishes to thank all residents for their cooperation in decorating their homes, and also the judges, who had to tour the town on a bad, rainy night.

CHILD KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR TUES.

6-Year-Old Girl Dashed In Front Of Auto on Ky-172

Tamara Jean Ward, 6-year-old first grade student at Wells Hill Elementary School, was dead on arrival at the Spencer Clinic Tuesday morning after she ran in front of a car on KY-172 three miles east of West Liberty near the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ward, Jr.

The car was driven by Mrs. Nell Adkins of Long Branch, a teacher enroute to her classes at Crockett school, and occurred at 7:10 a.m. in misty semi-darkness.

State Trooper Roy Ison, who investigated the accident, said the Ward child ran across the highway (Elkfork Road) to get to the school bus stop, and apparently dashed in front of the oncoming car. The teacher skidded her car several feet in trying to stop on the wet pavement in time to avoid the accident.

The accident was witnessed by the victim's twin brother, and another child, who already had crossed to the bus stop.

Besides the parents, who reside on Route 3 West Liberty, the child is survived by two brothers, Timothy Joe, her twin, and Harlan Lynn; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Helen Ward of Exel, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Adkins of Route 3 West Liberty.

Funeral will be conducted at 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 24, at the Herald and Stewart Funeral Home Chapel by Rev. Lenville Ball. Interment in the Fannin Cemetery at Crockett under the direction of Herald and Stewart Funeral Home.

Bring Your Boys and Girls To Church During The Holidays

A revival will begin Dec. 28 at 7 p.m. at the Lick Fork Pentecostal Church where Rev. Wendell Lewis is pastor. Rev. Eugene Haney will be the evangelist. Everyone is extended an invitation to attend every night and especially the watch service scheduled for Dec. 31. Regardless of your age or faith, come and worship with us. PRE-YULE SALES OF BURLEY WERE AT 2ND HIGHEST

Beltwide Average Was $72.31, $2.59 Over Last Season

The second highest average price on record was established for Pre-Christmas sales of the 1970 crop of Burley tobacco. The Federal-State Market News Service reports gross sales in the eight-state belt for the 16 days of auctions totaled 485,471,751 pounds and averaged $72.31 per hundred.

This average was $2.59 over pre-Christmas sales (17 days) last year when 491 million pounds were sold. The average was $1.75 under the record high set in 1968.

In its annual summary, the U.S. Crop Reporting Board estimated production of the 1970 crop to be 560,140,000 pounds. Production last year amounted to 591,395,000 pounds. Indications are that around 85 percent of the crop has passed over the auction floors.

Gross sales in the eight-state marketing area for the week ending December 17 totaled only 75,331,705 pounds and averaged $71.18 per hundred. The average declined 92 cents from the week before.

Grade prices held generally steady to slightly weaker with most declines amounting to only $1.00 per hundred pounds. Quality of offerings showed a small increase in the percentage of inferior marketings as most warehouses cleared their floors. Season receipts placed under Government loan amounted to only 7.5 percent of gross sales. This compares with 24 percent at this time last year.

Auctions recessed after sales on December 17. The reopening date will be set next week.

Morgan's Income

Morgan county's cash income from burley was up to $1,686,074.85 early this week. The Commercial Bank of West Liberty reported that a total of 2,097 tobacco checks had cleared through the bank through Tuesday for a total of $1,686,074.85.

Truckers Beware: Tobacco Thefts Increase This Yr.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Tobacco thefts occurring in the state this year have increased over 1969, reports, State Police reports have noted.

Approximately 50,000 pounds of tobacco have been stolen throughout Kentucky, with most of the thefts taking place in the central region of the state, according to Maj. Robert McKinney, who heads the investigative command of the State Police.

"We have lost two complete loads this year; we usually lose a couple of semi-truck loads each year. The tobacco is on the way to the warehouse and when the trucks are left unattended, the theft occurs," he said.

The stolen tobacco is usually disposed of either by adding it to another crop already on a warehouse floor or by substituting it for a low-quality, pinhooked load.

The state police have been successful in recovering some 9,000 pounds of tobacco in Hardin County, where state detectives from Elizabethtown arrested three men.

The penalty for tobacco theft, classified as grand larceny, carries a sentence of at least one and no more than five years imprisonment in a penitentiary.

Transporting the tobacco across state lines involves a federal offense with no more than 10 years prison sentence or $10,000 fine or both.

PARENTS "BEATING THE LAW" CAN CAUSE YOUTH'S DISRESPECT FOR LAW

(Richmond Daily Register)

Attitudes are as catching as whooping cough and much more lasting. When a father or mother deplores juvenile delinquency, yet disregards speed limits and stop signs, when a father brags about how he got out of paying a fine, he should not expect his children to have respect for the law whatever they might say.

What lessons in honesty do children learn when they hear their father discuss a devious business deal or sly income tax deductions? When parents forget promises to their children why should they expect their children to honor promises they make? Children usually live up to the reputation their parents give them. When they say in front of others that a child is bad or difficult or a rascal, he has no reason to become otherwise.

When parents speak disparagingly of civic authorities, church leaders, school administrators, they should not be surprised if their children are equally critical. One must continually guard against unjust criticism and guard one's attitudes since children are imitative.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREABOUTS

KENTUCKIANS will have more income next year, according to an economic forecast by the University of Kentucky's Office of Development Services and Research. The agency said income for 1971 is expected to be up by about $615 million, reaching $10.6 billion compared with the $9.9 billion estimated for 1970. Also predicted was a shift of employment away from manufacturing into such areas as wholesale and retail trade, mining, construction, transportation, communications, real estate, and other services. Non-agricultural employment should remain steady or rise slightly, the agency added.

L&N GETTING MORE COAL

CARS—Like the C&O and N&W, the L&N Railway last week announced it has ordered 1,800 freight cars, 1,000 of them to be 100-ton coal cars, 445 to be grain moving cars, and 57 cars to haul woodchips for servicing the paper industry. Also L&N has ordered 70 diesel locomotives.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

DANL. BOONE HIGHWAY — Another sector of the Daniel Boone Highway, a 5.4 mile stretch in Clay county, was let to contract last week to Adams Construction Co. of Pikeville on its bid of $1,140,015. The sector commences at the Manchester Interchange.

LOWERING DRAFT AGE — Draft Director C. W. Tarr is considering asking Congress to lower the draft age from 19 to 18, according to news reports from Washington. Selective Service said the change is one of 36 recommended by 109 young draft advisers in a meeting at the capitol last June. Lowering the draft age and assigning lottery numbers at age 17 might help young people plan their future by removing some of the doubt about being inducted, Tarr said.

EASTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY has been awarded an exemplary vocational education program grant, it was announced by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office of Education. Authorized under the Vocational Education amendments of 1968, the program will receive $251,388 during 1970-71. Students at all grade levels will be enrolled in a "Universe Model" of occupational education for Pikeville in conjunction with the Pikeville Model Cities Program.

ORGANIZED CRIME IN KY—State Public Safety Department is seeking $205,000 grant to finance formation of a special unit to investigate the extent of organized crime in Kentucky. Maj. Robert McKinney, head of the Criminal Investigation Division, said in a Frankfort television interview that some top criminal elements apparently have moved into Kentucky, including Mafia and Cosa Nostra leaders.

FOOD STAMP BILL STILL UNSETTLED

WASHINGTON — House and Senate negotiators agreed Tuesday on a bill extending the nation's food stamp program but requiring able-bodied recipients to take work or face the loss of discount price food for their families.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., the Senate's principal advocate of government subsidies for the food budgets of poor families, refused to sign the compromise legislation and said he might ask the Senate to reject it.

The 8.8 million Americans who benefit would suffer if no compromise were reached. The current law expires Jan. 31.

The work requirement was McGovern's chief objection. He argued that children should not be denied food because their parents turned down work.

Polluted air serves many purposes as well as pure air does, as, for example, it is used as transmission of power in operating tools for ripping up newly paved streets; it makes possible the use of suction pumps; it is used to inflate tires, and it keeps our bodies from exploding.

Tobacco Faces Problems—Maybe A Cut of 25% to 40%, Some Say

Burley growers, beset with ever increasing production costs, the cancer scare, and seven percent less poundage this selling season, may have more problems in store, according to some officials in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Summed up, it appears inevitable that quotas will be cut at least 25 percent, they say. Some policy officials in the agriculture department are saying that a 40 percent reduction is probable.

And, probably as disheartening for the tobacco industry is the attitude of Congress. With the exception of Senators and Representatives from tobacco producing states, the alignment is almost solidly against the tobacco farmer as members of the Congress are listening to health authorities and agricultural programs in their own states.

Senator John Sherman Cooper says the burley industry is fighting a losing cause. And it appears that he and other members of the Congress from tobacco growing states have adopted a delaying action attitude.

Joseph T. Todd, deputy of the department's tobacco division, said a cut of at least 25 percent in current burley allotments will be required next year under the present law.

And Carl C. Farrington, deputy administrator of the department's commodity operations, said the cut may be as high as 40 percent.

Such reductions would come on top of a 10 percent allotment cut taken by burley growers this year as a result of increased burley production. The statements were made at a hearing held recently by a subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture Committee attended by burley leaders from Kentucky and other tobacco raising states.

Program Could Be Lost

Sen. Cooper told the hearing that unless the reduction of burley is curbed, the federal price-support program, for the crop will be jeopardized.

The Kentucky Republican said that continued accumulation of surpluses would increase the costs of the program and give new ammunition to congressional foes of price supports.

"The people in this Congress are not going to take it, and we're going to lose it (the support program)," Cooper said. "I shudder to think what will happen" to prices if that occurs, he added.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., who acted as chairman of the hearing, echoed Cooper's sentiments.

The subject of the hearing was a House-passed bill that would permit farmers holding acreage allotments assigned by the Agriculture Department to lease them to someone else in the same county.

But Cooper used the occasion to discuss general supply-and-demand problems facing burley growers.

He invited Kentucky burley interests to appear at the hearing and push their proposal for a new system of production controls, based on limiting the pounds of burley a farmer can market.

creasing burley surpluses.

Carter Opposes Poundage Plan

They did, and 5th District Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Tompkinsville, also showed up to oppose the poundage plan as detrimental to small growers. Those who raise a half-acre or less are not subject to allotment cuts under the present law. The half-acre allotments would be cut under the poundage-limit plan.

Under the current program the Agriculture Department guarantees a minimum price for burley and in effect buys and holds for resale all the crop that doesn't bring more than the minimum. The department attempts to keep supply in line with demand by restricting the acreage a farmer can plant in the crop.

But, Cooper said, improving growing techniques have largely thwarted the acreage reductions, creating surpluses and making major cutbacks likely next year.

The predicted 25-to-40 percent cutback "could force many of our burley growers into bankruptcy or continuing farm losses — and there is no alternative crop to which they can turn to make up the loss in income," Cooper said in a statement submitted to the subcommittee.

"In view of this, it is likely that many growers will vote against the continuation of the marketing quota program for burley" in a referendum that, under present law, must be held next year, he said.

If fewer than two-thirds of the burley growers endorse the price-support and acreage-limitation system, it will be eliminated.

CARS WORST POLLUTERS—STATE MAY USE ANTI-EXHAUST GADGETS

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A legislative joint subcommittee on environment urged state and local governments Friday to install anti-pollution devices on all their motor vehicles.

The subcommittee took the action upon the suggestion of Rep. Bruce Blythe R-Louisville, who said the devices now are available at a cost of $50.

Tests which State Police made on the devices, Blythe said, showed that they not only reduced the emission of carbon monoxide by 92 percent, but also increased gasoline mileage by 11 percent. The devices in question are manufactured in Louisville, he said.

Blythe said Gov. Louie B. Nunn, when informed of the device by him, was "very interested."

Blythe suggested the state could install the device on its nearly 5,000 vehicles.

Opposes Barging

On another matter, the subcommittee unanimously adopted a resolution expressing its opposition to a proposal to allow coal barges to operate on Lake Cumberland.

LEES JUNIOR COLLEGE SOURCE OF HOPE TO DEPRIVED MOUNTAIN YOUTH

But Mounting Costs, Bigger Enrollment Brings Need for Funds

Many young men and women in Eastern Kentucky are not "lucky" enough to be born to affluent parents. Some must skip periods of school from time to time in order to help support the family. Others have no concept of the greater outside world because their own world is limited to dirt road communities without telephones or running water.

In a very real sense, these youth are unlucky.

In another sense, they are lucky, because the region is served by Lees Junior College, a private college that can and does take students with deficient academic backgrounds and experiences and brings them to the point where they can transfer as juniors to larger four year colleges and universities throughout the state and nation.

Most Appalachian youths, unlike other disadvantaged youths intend to return to the hill country after graduation from senior college and help their neighbors improve the quality of their lives.

Although Lees, located at Jackson in Breathitt County, is not a large college, it is helping the people of Appalachia lift themselves above the results of neglect and abuse they have endured for decades. This is a 100 percent effort that gathers greater impetus each year.

During the past five years, the College has been forced to assume greater and greater responsibility in its community, in its region. More students seeking admission, increased economic depression of the area, inflation, exploding fields of knowledge, rising salary levels—these and many other factors have increased student enrollment nearly 100 percent, increased student aid by 900 percent, increased operating costs by 900 percent, and increased faculty salaries by 77 percent.

Projections for the future indicate that enrollment will increase by another 200 students, scholarship aid will increase by $200,000, operating costs will increase by $742,333, and faculty salaries will increase by $4,100 per person.

Like it or not, if a private college is to stay in the educational business—particularly in a disadvantaged area—it must attract the necessary financial undergirding.

For nearly 90 years, Lees Junior College has responded to needs of Appalachian students. It cannot—and will not, the school's board and faculty say—neglect its responsibility to make adequate academic and financial plans for future students.

The college asks the generous financial support of all citizens interested in bettering the lives of Appalachian youth. And the administrators and faculty invite all interested persons to come to the campus and see for themselves what they are trying to do.

If the hope of Appalachia lies in its youth, their hopes lie in the willingness of interested citizens to give substance to the dreams of young men and women who would otherwise never know hope.

Of the 70 law reviews published by the nation's law schools, the Kentucky Law Journal, published by the University of Kentucky's College of Law, is the tenth oldest.

Vets In On The Job Training Increase 76 Pct. Last Fiscal Yr.

Veterans taking on-the-job training under current G.I. Bill provisions increased 76 percent during the past fiscal year according to J. G. Rathliff, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Louisville. Rathliff reported there were a record 117,000 veterans throughout the nation enrolled in job training at the end of June 1970.

He noted the greatest growth rate occurred in technical and managerial training programs where trainees increased from 1,616 to 5,767.

Rathliff said training in service occupations, mostly firemen and policemen trainees, also had a very high growth rate—an increase of 153 percent, from 7,158 in fiscal year 1969 to 18,089 last fiscal year.

Apprenticeship training attracted 76,177 veterans accounting for 65 percent of all job trainees.

Veterans interested in on-the-job training can get additional information at the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 900 Federal Place, Louisville, Kentucky 40202.

INSPIRATION CORNER

By Louise Winchup

White gift offerings have been a part of Christmas for many years. I'm not really sure where it started or why. White represents purity — and we know that God made a white gift offering when He sent His Son—Who is Purely Himself—white reminds us of brightness too—which also means light. Again we find that God offered light—for He sent His Son to be the Light of the World.

As we look into this word Light for a few minutes, we find many interesting things. We can mention only one or two here.

Jesus said, "I am the Light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." John 8:12. A wonderful gift is it not? Have you accepted this gift so rare that our Father has offered it through His Son?

Speaking of Light — The Psalmist says "The Lord is my light and my salvation . . . Psalm 27:1. Another great and wonderful gift. The Psalmist also talks about walking in the light. You may not have a great gift to give to anyone this year.

Your circumstances may be such that gifts are beyond your means. Perhaps you don't even believe in giving gifts.

May I share something with you? There are gifts you can give that cost you nothing, yet yield great blessings for you. Try smiling — especially when you don't feel like it. Try being kind. Do an unrequested job for someone—take time to talk with a shut-in. Love people. Jesus said, "Freely ye have received, freely give." Surely, as we give of ourselves to others we shall gain a wealth of blessing.

May this Christmas season be the most blessed for you. May you walk in the Light of God's Countenance; find Him as your Light and Salvation; and offer the gift of yourself to others.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY—

OVER 3 MILLION U.S. CHILDREN COLLECT SOCIAL SECURITY

At Christmas time, parents come to a fuller realization of just how important their children are to them. They shower their love and affection on the young ones in many ways. The children will remain safe and secure as long as the parent is able to provide for them.

"For this reason," says Ashland district social security manager Thomas B. Thompson, "it is reassuring to know that if income is cut off because of retirement, disability, or death, there is still social security protection provided for the children."

Nearly 3½ million Americans under 18 are receiving monthly social security payments. Another half million students 18 through 21 are also getting benefits.

"Thirty years ago, fewer than 55,000 children received benefits," Thompson noted. "But the law has been changed over the years, not only broadening everybody's protection but greatly increasing the significance of social security for younger people—younger workers as well as beneficiaries."

"The young worker of today, through his social security contribution, is building protection for his family," Thompson said. "With contributions of only a few hundred dollars a year, he is creating an 'estate' that could mean monthly checks for many years if he should die or become disabled before his children are grown."

"About 1.3 million disabled workers under 65 are now getting monthly disability benefits under social security," Thompson pointed out, "and payments are going to over 1 million of their dependents. The average payment to the family of a disabled worker with 1 or more children is $273.00 a month. The maximum is $434.40."

Three million young widows and children are receiving payments based on the earnings of a deceased husband and father, with the average payment for a mother and two children now $292.00 and the maximum $434.40.

"In the Ashland District alone," Thompson noted, "1,600 disabled workers and 2,100 of their dependents are receiving monthly disability benefits, while over 5,000 widowed mothers and their children are receiving monthly survivors benefits. These benefits, which are over and above those being paid to retired workers and their families, total close to $800,000 a month."

GREG ELAM WINS VFW-SPONSORED VOICE OF AMERICA ESSAY CONTEST

Greg Elam, a senior at Morgan County High School, is winner of the first Voice of Democracy Essay Contest sponsored in this area by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Topic for the essay contest was "Freedom, Our Heritage," and Greg's prize was $50, provided by the local VFW post.

His essay will now be judged in the state contest where the winning essay will win for its author a $200 Savings Bond and an all-expense-paid, five-day trip to Washington, and a chance for the national prize. National winner in the contest will receive a $10,000 scholarship to the college of his or her choice.

Greg, of Index, is the son of Betty Lou Elam of Lexington.

Runnerup in the contest and receiving a prize of $30 was Billy Lynn Nickell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Nickell of West Liberty.

Third prize of $15 went to Marsha Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Reed of Cannel City.

Sponsored annually by the national VFW organization and the National Association of Broadcasters and its affiliates, it was the first time local youth have been offered an opportunity to participate in the contest. The prize money was offered by Morgan County VFW Post 7225 as an incentive for students to participate in the

Who Said Beavers Are Extinct In East Ky.?

(The Morehead News)

MOREHEAD, Ky., Dec. 10.—Legend is that the last beaver in this part of Kentucky left 15 years ago from Fox Creek in Fleming County, about 15 miles north of Morehead. You better not believe it. Glenn Terrell, Morehead, and Clinton Mullens took a big 40lb. beaver this week with a steel trap on a tributary of Licking River in Rowan County, above Cave Run Reservoir, under construction. And, where one beaver lives there's a colony. The area is a part of the Daniel Boone National Forest and rangers say the valley is also full of deer, and fast propagating wild turkeys. Publicity has been that the wild turkeys are most prevalent in the Land Between the Lakes of western Kentucky. Forest rangers think the big, and increasing flocks, are in the Morehead area. They also predict many beaver colonies in Rowan, Bath and Menifee counties.

Social security benefits are not paid automatically. A claim must be filed with the social security office.

More than 1,600 students of the health professions are enrolled in the different colleges of the University of Kentucky Medical Center. The University Hospital offers postdoctoral training for interns, residents, and clinical fellows.

Florress Couple Honored Saturday On Their Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Haney of Florress were honored Saturday evening with an almost a-surprise birthday party at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Center and family at Camargo.

Mr. Haney's birthday was Dec. 18 and Mrs. Haney's, who is postmaster at Florress, celebrated her birthday on Dec. 20.

It was hoped by the family that the party, which was long in the planning, would remain a secret. However no one had taken into account the weather, which prior to the appointed date for the party turned off damp, bringing tobacco into case.

Thus with their tobacco in case, Mr. and Mrs. Haney had to be informed of the party in order to get them away from the stripping room.

They accompanied their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Haney of College Corners, Ohio, to Camargo where they were joined by another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinner, Jr. and son, Greg, and Mrs. Haney's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tom Easterling and family of Cottle.

Mr. and Mrs. Haney opened several gifts and all enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner and a birthday cake prepared by Mrs. Center.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Center, Albert Clay, Charles Ray, and Deidra, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinner, Jr. and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tom Easterling, Karen, David, and Jimmy Darrell Easterling and Debbie Conley.

"COUNTRY CHRISTMAS"

Christmas is snow on the rail fence and pine; Christmas is icicles' sparkle and shine, Mistletoe, crow's-foot, and red berries holly, Carols and friendship and everything jolly; Christmas is letting the dogs in the house

And sharing our feast on turkey and grouse; Christmas is candles and fragile glass balls, Firelight flickers on knotty pine walls; Christmas is memories mellow and pleasant, Finding quaint cards with a quail or a pheasant; Christmas is starlight, dream light and love,

A small bit of heaven come down from above. Christmas is hope in the hearts of all men That peace will return to the earth once again.

MISS BREWER BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. PHIPPS DEC. 11TH

MRS. JOHN WALKER PHIPPS

The wedding of Miss Patricia Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brewer of Campton, and John Walker Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Phipps of Ezel, took place at 6:30 p.m. Friday, December 11, at the First Church of God in Campton.

The Rev. Doyle Thomas performed the double ring ceremony. Music was presented by Mrs. W. P. Cecil, pianist, and vocalists Sharon Henry and Cheryl Henry.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of candlelight chiffon. Her attached train was chapel length. A lace flower headpiece embroidered with pearls held her elbow-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white poinsettias with olive green streamers.

Miss Lola Brand of Campton was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of royal blue velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of a single white poinsetta.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Phipps, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Leona Cantrell. Their costumes were identical to that of the honor attendant.

Charles Phipps, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Delbert Leach and Tony Brewer, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Marvin Brewer, Campton, Mrs. Ernest Spencer, Pine Ridge, and Mrs. Wanda Cunningham, Stanton. Miss Sue Dunn of Pine Ridge kept the guest book.

The couple will be living in Campton.

Martin and Jessie E. Lewis visited his sister, Frances Benton, at Caney Friday afternoon.

Kelly Lewis, Cletis Morris, and Ralph Byrd's son were in Winchester one day last week with tobacco.

Buford Lykins of this community got Winston Gullett to take some stock to the Paintsville Livestock Market sale recently.

Mariah Wages, Ora Taulbee, and Marvin Wages attended church at Walnut Grove Sunday.

Stella Lacy of Winchester and Mary E. Johnson of Frenchburg came to church at Walnut Grove and both spent Saturday night with Mrs. Johnson's cousin, Mrs. Kelly Johnson, at Malone. All attended church on Sunday.

Kelly Lewis seems to be improving normally from a recent illness.

Dorothy Hunt, who spent several days with her sister, Mrs. Lillian Fugate, returned home Sunday.

TREES: NATURE'S OWN SOUND PROOFERS

A recently completed 3-year government study shows unwanted noise may be cut by as much as 65 percent if trees are used as sound barriers, according to the Southern Forest Institute. Researchers report tall trees absorb and deflect noise better than short ones; evergreens are best for year-round sound absorption. Scientists say the most effective noise-reducing results come from 75-foot-wide belts of closely spaced trees planted between the noise source and the area to be protected.

SAVE YOUR BREATH BY ADDING TREES—THEY PROVIDE OXYGEN

The tree — cultivated in song and poetry for centuries — is emerging in a new, more vital role: lifesaver.

Horticulturists say that one tree produces enough oxygen each day to sustain one life.

Nurseryman Paul C. Stark Jr. said that trees and green plants remove carbon dioxide from the air and add oxygen to it. "This," he said, "is of great significance because if it were not for this interchange, the earth's atmosphere would contain many times its present percentage of carbon dioxide and so little oxygen that man could not exist."

Stark said that, during a moderately warm and sunny summer day, 25 meters of green leaves will produce approximately the same amount of oxygen that one person will consume during the same period.

Based on this fact, Stark estimated that one mature apple tree will produce enough oxygen to supply four people one year.

Stark said that the current emphasis on clean air and improving the environment has made people more aware of the importance of trees.

Stark said that trees absorb noxious fumes from cars, prevent soil erosion and, when properly interspersed in yards and malls can reduce noise by 65 percent.

"Planting a tree," he said, "is one way all of us can get involved in saving our environment — and lives. You don't have to own a lot of land to do your part," Stark said. The development of the dwarf-size fruit tree makes it possible for homeowners with small yards to fight pollution and inflation at the same time.

"On a plot about the size of the average living room the homeowner can plant a home fruit garden," Stark said.

"Dwarf-size trees grow to be about 8 to 10 feet tall, yet bear full-size apples, peaches, pears, and cherries," he said.

Stark Bros., the country's oldest nursery and the largest in the world has developed a guide that shows homeowners six places in their yard where they can plant fruit trees. These include planting as a part of a shrub border, as a fence or hedge, patio border, rose screen, and as a "postage stamp" orchard.

The company offers the guide free along with its catalog. Copies are available by writing V129A0, Louisiana, Missouri 63353.

JEFFERSONVILLE

BY MRS. C. F. BOLIN

Dec. 7 — The writer and family spent Thanksgiving in Ohio with our children. We eat dinner with our oldest daughter, Mavis Bair, in Miamisburg, Ohio. Had turkey, ham and all the goes for a good dinner. In the evening, all the children and grandchildren met at the home of Iva Bolin in Middletown, Ohio. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bolin and Lea, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wise, John and Treasa, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilder, Corky and Mavis, Sharon Buttery and Gwen, Rev. and Mrs. Ronald Bolin, Rhonda, Rack, Tim, and David, Mavis Bair, and the writer and family.

Mrs. Lizzie Byrd is in the Mt. Sterling Hospital with gall bladder trouble.

Mrs. Carma Lee of Lucky Stop was called to the Middletown, Ohio Hospital. Her sister, Nancy Jane Keith, was seriously ill.

Mrs. Jerry Maloney is out of the hospital and is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carson Cole, who is taking care of her.

Mrs. Minnie May Jackson of Mt. Sterling was removed from the hospital to a rest home in Owensville. She is a cousin of the writer.

They are building more to the Jeffersonville Post Office. It sure was badly needed.

Mr. Willard Craft went up on the Dan Ridge in Menifee for a few days visit.

Those visiting the writer yesterday were Malva Kiser, Norma Burkette, and a Mrs. Trumble of this place.

Mr. C. F. Bolin is able to drive his car after having a cyst removed from his left eye. This is the third time he has had his left eye operated on.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Here is wishing you all at The Courier office, and your families, a real good Christmas and a happy new year.

I look forward each week for the news from my home county. I would like to say to many friends who read The Courier a merry Christmas and a happy new year to all. To those who have sent greetings to me I will try to answer.

I have been very busy with my great-grandchildren while their mother, Irma Wells Smith, works a 3:30 p.m.-1:30 a.m. shift.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Fern Lewis

CONGRESS ALLOWS
DELAY IN SETTING
BURLY ACREAGE

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congress has approved a resolution giving the Secretary of Agriculture authority to delay for up to one month his declaration of 1971 burley quotas.

The Senate approved the measure Friday and the House gave its OK Monday.

The secretary by law must declare the 1971 allotments by Feb. 1 to allow time for growers to ratify or reject the federal price-support and production-control program. The resolution would permit allotments to be set as late as March 1.

Kentucky Senator John Sherman Cooper, sponsor of the resolution, said its purpose is to permit time to consider changes in the burley program.

Allotments now limit the amount of acres that can be planted in the crop. Quotas of one-half or less are exempt from any reduction.

Predictions of a 25-to-40 per cent acreage reduction next year have prompted a request from some farm organizations that Congress revise the quota system. The Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation has recommended limits be placed on the pounds a farmer can market—a step that would make all allotments subject to reduction.

DRUG ABUSE TOPIC OF MORGAN HIGH
FHA MEETING

The Morgan County FHA met December 4 for their monthly meeting. Miss Naomi Finch, the school nurse, was guest speaker and told us about drugs and drug abuse. Miss Finch gave some results of a survey of all Morgan County schools on drugs. She distributed pamphlets and leaflets concerning different types of drugs, and showing different effects of individual users.

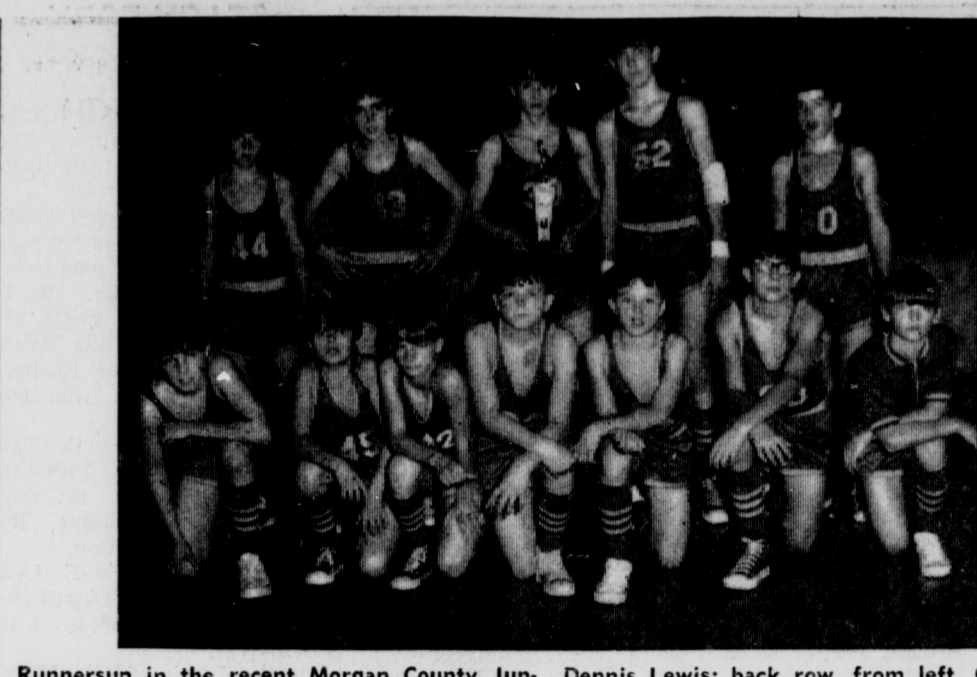

Miss Finch also pointed out that most parents refuse to accept the fact that their children have access or could possibly be users of dangerous drugs. A short question and answer period followed Miss Finch's presentation.

MOUNTAIN FARMER EDWARD HOLBROOK, SR. IMPROVES HIS WOODLAND IN EAST KENTUCKY FOR POSTERITY

BY: BERLYN BROWN
Soil Conservationist USDA.

Soil Conservation Service
Edward D. Holbrook, Sr., West Liberty, has completed 720 acres of timber stand improvement and planted nearly 200 acres of White pine and walnut trees.

Starting in 1954 on his home farm in Morgan County, with his axe and his dog, he has cut out the vines and hacked out miles of trails and five lanes up the valleys and over the hills on his farms in four eastern Kentucky counties.

Being a retired school teacher and also a retired secretary for the Federal Land Bank Association, Ed recognized the great potential that lies in the improvement and proper management of the vast resources of timberland in Eastern Kentucky. This enormous potential was too much of a challenge for Ed to sit in his rocking chair after retirement.

Already past 65 years of age when he started, by 1959 he had completed 400 acres of timber stand improvement (TSI) and planted more than 30 acres of trees. One tract of 172 acres on Hunter Creek in Breathitt County was completed in 1957, where no forest fires have burned in more than 90 years. Many long sections of crooked, split rail fence with stake and riders still exist. According to Mr. Holbrook, the fence was built while he was a student at Hazel Green Academy by his father, G. B. Holbrook, and Shaler Roark (adjoining landowner). James Holbrook, Sr., Willie Holbrook, Greene Bailey, and William Bailey.

West Liberty, Ky., Dec. 24, 1970

Edward D. Holbrook, Sr., West Liberty, a retired school teacher, recognizes the great potential that lies in the improvement and proper management of the vast acreage of timberland in Kentucky. The challenge was too great for him to sit in a rocking chair after retirement, so he completed 720 acres of woodland improvement and planted 2000 acres of trees since 1958. Mr. Holbrook taught school in Morgan, Breathitt, and Magoffin Counties before his retirement. Mr. Holbrook is at right. At left, pointing to a mature 38-inch poplar tree on Mr. Holbrook's property, is Berlyn Brown, Soil Conservationist and formerly of West Liberty.

ley, and William Bailey.

Receiving the Tom Wallace Forestry Award in 1959, Mr. Holbrook did not sit down in his rocking chair and rest on his laurels.

Being a man of unusual walking ability (he has never driven a car) and seemingly boundless energy, he has continued his tree planting and TSI efforts for the past eleven years, improving more than 30 acres this year. Doing most of the work with an axe himself, he has continued his efforts on his farms in Breathitt, Magoffin, Menifee, and Morgan counties.

A strong believer in maintaining an undisturbed natural ecological balance in his woodland, no chemicals were used in any of the TSI projects. He insisted, from the beginning, on leaving as many nut-bearing and den trees as possible. Flowering shrubs and small understory he left practically undisturbed. "Small deciduous and a good floor litter is essential to absorb water, enrich the soil and prevent erosion," Holbrook stated. "I concentrated my TSI efforts on cutting strangling vines," he stated. "Cutting or deadening 'wole' or poor trees that were crowding or overtopping desirable trees was done only when absolutely necessary," Holbrook said. Holbrook has several large boundaries of virgin timber, where no fire has been, that he is negotiating to sell. Some of the finest timber left in Eastern Kentucky - beautiful, tall, straight trees 2 1/2, 3 1/2 feet or more in diameter - tulip poplar, hard maple, black walnut, white oak, hickory, and beech.

A cooperator with the Breathitt, Magoffin, Menifee, and Morgan County Soil Conservation Districts, Mr. Holbrook has worked closely through the years with the Soil Conservation Service, ASCS, Extension Service, the Kentucky Division of Forestry, and others. He gives high praise to the Division of Forestry's forest fire control for keeping damaging fires out of Kentucky's fine woodland.

Vocational agriculture in high school provides an excellent background of training for boys planning to farm, enter agricultural college, or work in a wide variety of non-farm agricultural occupations.

A historical marker on the courthouse lawn at Sandy Hook, Elliott County seat, shows the county was named in 1869 for John M. Elliott.

Mt. Sterling Dairy Farmer, Discount Chain Raise Large Sums At Christmas Time For Rhonda McKenzie Funds

It may take more than $10,000 for the long series of operations 16-month-old Rhonda McKenzie is undergoing to correct facial and other birth defects. And not only are Morgan county people helping the family with the expenses, but people in nearby counties have volunteered contributions, after reading about the unusual surgery being performed in Charlottesville, Va., and learning of the Rhonda McKenzie Fund started in Morgan county.

Last Thursday, a Montgomery county dairy farmer, Carl Moore of Rt. 3 Mt. Sterling, brought $1,033 he had raised in his county and gave it to the father, Ronald McKenzie.

"It's a wonderful surprise and it will help a lot," the young father told Mr. Moore. It was the day before the father left for Charlottesville to bring Rhonda and her mother home for Christmas holidays, after Rhonda had her third operation.

Mr. Moore operates a dairy farm on the Paris Pike north of Mt. Sterling, and he suggested to his fellow church members at the Mt. Sterling Church of God that they help. The response was instantaneous—and Mr. Moore asked others to help. Employees at the A. O. Smith Corporation motor factory gave $500. And various others joined in, including the few business people he asked. All together, Mr. Moore got $1,033 in a few days.

He wanted to deliver the cash in person, and Les Branham of Mt. Sterling, a former resident of Morgan, said he would come with him. They came Thursday, and gave the $1,033 to the young father in person.

"I could have raised a lot more if we had taken the time I know we could have raised a few thousand more if we had taken the time to get the civic clubs and other churches to help," Mr. Moore said. "But I started it in a hurry, and finished in a hurry." He seemed overjoyed to have helped in the endeavor

MERRY CHRISTMAS, RHONDA!—Rhonda McKenzie, West Liberty's littlest sweetheart, has a double surprise for Christmas, 1970. One is that she just underwent her second operation to create a face and will be home in time for Christmas. The other is that the fund created to pay for her operations is $2,756.57 richer, thanks to a candy sale sponsored by Maloney's Discount Stores. Rhonda was born without a face and with other deformities. Plastic surgery is creating a face for her and helping correct the other troubles. Many friends are contributing to the fund to help pay for the expenses of the surgery. Ray Mitchell (left) accepted the contribution for the fund of which he is chairman, from John J. Maloney last week at the Commercial Bank. Teller is Erma Stamper.

—and the young father was nearly overwhelmed. "It's a surprise—and a wonderful surprise—it will help a lot," young McKenzie told Mr. Moore and Mr. Branham.

Mr. McKenzie later turned the money over to Mrs. Clay Walton, fund treasurer.

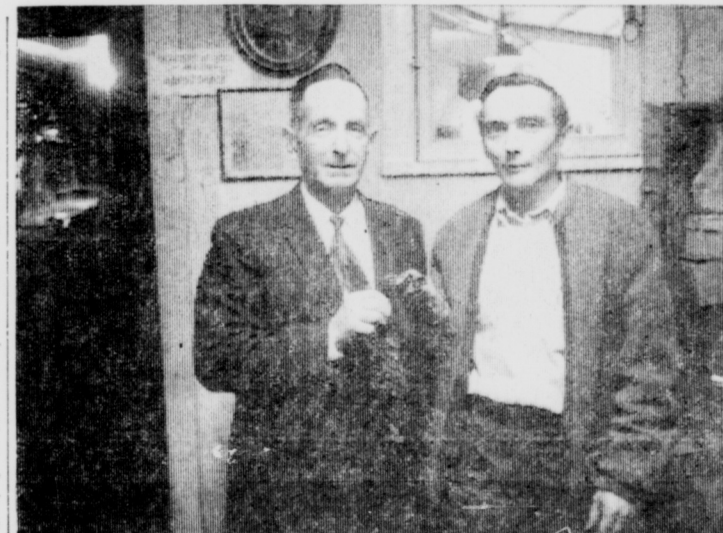

Another large donation to the Rhonda McKenzie Fund was made last week by John J. Maloney of Mt. Sterling. Mr. Maloney came to West Liberty to present to Ray Mitchell, chairman of the Fund's advisory board, $2,756.57 raised in a candy sale sponsored by Maloney's Discount Stores.

Donations to date total more than $8,000.

Rhonda, who is now home to spend Christmas with her family after undergoing her second operation for the removal of two extra toes and opening of her eyelids and construction of a nose, will return to Charlottesville this Saturday to undergo skin grafts and other additional surgery.

Rhonda's doctors, reportedly are elated with the progress they are making. Previously, it was thought that it would require more than three years to complete the necessary corrective operations. But they now believe it will require considerably less time.

$1,000 GIFT TO AID SURGERY PATIENT—Montgomery Co. dairy farm operator Carl Moore, left, is shown here personally delivering $1,000 in cash to Ronald McKenzie, father of 16-month-old Rhonda McKenzie of West Liberty who is undergoing a long series of operations to correct facial birth defects. The Rhonda McKenzie Fund was started here a few months ago to help pay the many hospital and surgical bills. Mr. Moore, who operates a dairy farm on the Paris Pike north of Mt. Sterling, read of the fund drive and started a collection in his church, the First Church of God in Mt. Sterling. The response was instantaneous, and the employees of the A. O. Smith Corp. plant in Mt. Sterling added $500 to the fund he collected, also a number of businesses. Mr. Moore, accompanied by Les Branham, brought the cash ($1,033) to West Liberty last Thursday and presented it personally to Rhonda's father.

HAZEL GREEN VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPT. CONDUCTING DRIVE FOR NEW TRUCK

Truck Now In Use Is Unreliable Mechanically

Members of the Hazel Green Community Volunteer Fire Department are conducting a fund-drive to purchase a new truck to improve its services to the community and neighboring areas. The decision was made to purchase the new truck at a recent meeting when it was pointed out by many members of the department that the present truck was not always reliable and that its mechanical condition did not provide the necessary safety to the drivers to respond quickly to a call.

By adding a new truck to the department, a call can be answered more quickly with greater safety, thus enabling the old truck to follow with additional water. The firemen have found that on many calls their effectiveness has been limited because of the lack of reserve water at the site of the fire.

Over 20 men in the Hazel Green community received approximately 20 hours of training each provided by the Bureau of Vocational Education in Frankfort last March, at which time they learned many of the basic principles of fire fighting and rescue work. They have been cited by the West Liberty Fire Department for the efficient and effective manner in which they gave assistance at the time of their disaster.

trous fire last July. Other calls answered during the year included one to Adele in Morgan County in which a grocery and post office were saved from a nearby fire; brush and building fires at Stillwater, Maytown, Gilmore, Lee City, and more recently in Eden.

The fire department is not restricted to any area by local ordinances and will answer a call to any community where it is felt that service is needed. The support for the department is strictly on a volunteer basis with no charge being made for a call.

Persons needing to report a fire should simply dial "Operator" and give their name and location of the fire. The operator in turn will contact the fire department.

Several persons interested in supporting the drive for a new fire truck have already indicated this by either making a donation or pledge. The following pledges have been received:

Garrett Harrod, $50.00; Ben Lindon, 100.00; M. C. Nickell, 100.00; Earl J. Osborn, 100.00; Robert Landrum, 25.00; Ed Morris, 100.00; Eugene Nickell, 100.00; Marvin Morris, 100.00; Earl Lindon, 10.00; Ollie Dunn, 10.00; Justin Rose, 100.00; Jackie Coffey, 100.00; Rowland Taulbee, 1.00; Doris Stamper, 50.00; George Buchanan, 100.00; John Caudill, 100.00; Ralph Lockard, 100.00; Carl Lacy, 25.00.

Everyone who owns property or is interested in seeing the community served with the protection that the group of volunteer firemen is willing to provide should send their donation or pledge to Mr. Scott McGuire, Treasurer of the Hazel Green Fire Department, Hazel Green.

Dec. 18 — Pvt. E2 Leon F. Engle is spending Christmas leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Engle, of Route 2 West Liberty. He has completed his Army basic training and is presently stationed with the First Artillery Brigade at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where he will be attending artillery combat leadership school.

We extend get well wishes to Jennie Oakley, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oakley, who has been on the sick list the past few days.

Mr. Garland Perry of Ohio visited last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Perry.

Mrs. Virginia Oakley visited her mother, Mrs. Dora Lewis, at the Daniel Boone Convalescent Home at Morehead Monday and found her slowly improving.

We wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year to The Courier staff and readers.

PARK HILL
By Cassie Lewis

Dec. 21—Word was received here Monday, Dec. 14, of the passing of Mollie (Bailey) Lewis of Bowling Green, Ky., widow of the late James G. Lewis, both formerly of Morgan County. Funeral and burial were in Bowling Green Wednesday, Dec. 16 where she was laid to rest beside her husband. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Lula (Lewis) Brown, and three grandsons, Clyde, Wendell, and Audrey Brown of Bowling Green, and several nieces, nephews, and other friends and relatives in Morgan County and elsewhere, one brother, Merrill Bailey of Topeka, Kansas, and other relatives in Kansas.

Frances Pennington went to Lexington last Wednesday to have her eyes examined and glasses fitted. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ruby Johnson and son, Danny.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Lewis and Clayborn Lewis of Yocum, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis of West Liberty visited in Ashland Sunday with their aunt, Mattie. They also visited with Lola Lewis and family and Joseph Craycraft and family.

Miss Brenda Brown was calling on Frances Pennington Sunday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lewis and little son, Olen Glen, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Lewis and Clayborn Lewis, all of Yocum, Mr. and Mrs. Victor McKenzie, Nannie Wells, and Rose Black of West Liberty.

I would like to say Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to the Courier staff, and all its many readers, and to all our friends and relatives. We have failed to send personal greetings and may God bless you one and all.

PLANNING SESSION FOR MICROWAVE SYSTEM—Mountain Rural Telephone Co-op personnel and representatives of Lenkurt Electric Company of San Carlos, Calif. met at West Liberty recently to arrange final plans for construction of a 210-ft. microwave transmission tower that will provide improved long-distance phone service for four exchanges in the Co-op's system. From left are William Bece, transmission engineer for Lenkurt; Daniel McKenzie, Mt. Rural engineer; Co-op manager Bernard Hill; Marvin Ward of Lenkurt; Billy Ratliff, central office technician for the Co-op; Kevin Lapp, Lenkurt equipment engineer; F. Hal Wright, project engineer for Lenkurt. The Lenkurt Company will erect the microwave tower. The Californians, who will begin work in the tower Jan. 1, said they were impressed with the beauty of this area, and the "purity of the air" as compared with city life in California.

Ison Store And P.O. At Stephens
Destroyed By Fire WednesdayLightning May Have Caused Blaze; There
Was No Insurance

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Stephens Post Office and large general store of Cecil Ison at the mouth of Ison Creek on Little Fork Wednesday shortly after 6 p.m.

The store was near the deep test oil well drilled in Elliott County recently by Monitor Petroleum Corporation, and the fire spread to the trailer home of Bink Strickland, Monitor's division manager, who lived nearby. But neighbors were able to extinguish the trailer fire before it consumed the structure.

Gasoline pumps in front of the store, on the Little Fork Highway, exploded, but fortunately the underground gasoline tanks did not explode.

The Ison store building and merchandise and the Stephens post office, inside the store, were complete losses, and there was no insurance coverage, Mrs. Ison said.

Mrs. Ison, who is postmistress at Stephens, said she is moving a trailer in Friday and plans to have the post office back in operation in the trailer by Saturday.

Mrs. Ison said she left the store about 6:15 during a thunder and lightning storm, and went home. She lives three miles up Ison Creek.

The fire was discovered about 6:30 by Randy and Ronald Strickland, sons of Monitor's division manager, and they tried to break open the store door to quench the fire but could not open it. Then their brother and sister, Mike and Susie, ran to the home of Sheriff Hersel Ison about a quarter mile away and spread the alarm.

The Sheriff and two neighbors, Wallace Fraley and Virgil Keeton, arrived in a few minutes, and the Sheriff pried open the store door, but flames hit him in the face and drove them back. So nothing was saved.

The store building, a 40 x 60-foot wooden structure, was quickly consumed, with all its contents.

Meanwhile flames spread to the trailer home of the Stricklands' nearby, and damaged one end of the trailer before neighbors extinguished the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland had gone Christmas shopping, and only their four children were at home at the time.

Mrs. Ison said the stoker-matic stove in the store was burning low when she left for home, and she was sure the blaze did not start from it. She suspects that the building may have been hit by lightning in the storm that went over that part of Little Fork about the time the fire started.

Monitor's deep-test well was drilled on the Ison farm, in a narrow bottom back of the Ison store.

YOUTH BEING SOUGHT FOR JOB
CORPS OPENINGS IN THIS AREA

"What did I drop into when I dropped out of school and then found a low paying job for a few weeks? I found that I couldn't make it and where did I turn? Nowhere for the most part, until I found Job Corps."

This is a true story told by a youth ready to graduate from Job Corps, a voluntary work-training program where the enrollees live and work in a campus type environment. The State Employment Service in Morehead is conducting a recruitment drive for men and women 16 through 21 years of age, to join the Job Corps during the weeks of Jan. 25-29-71, Feb. 1-5-71.

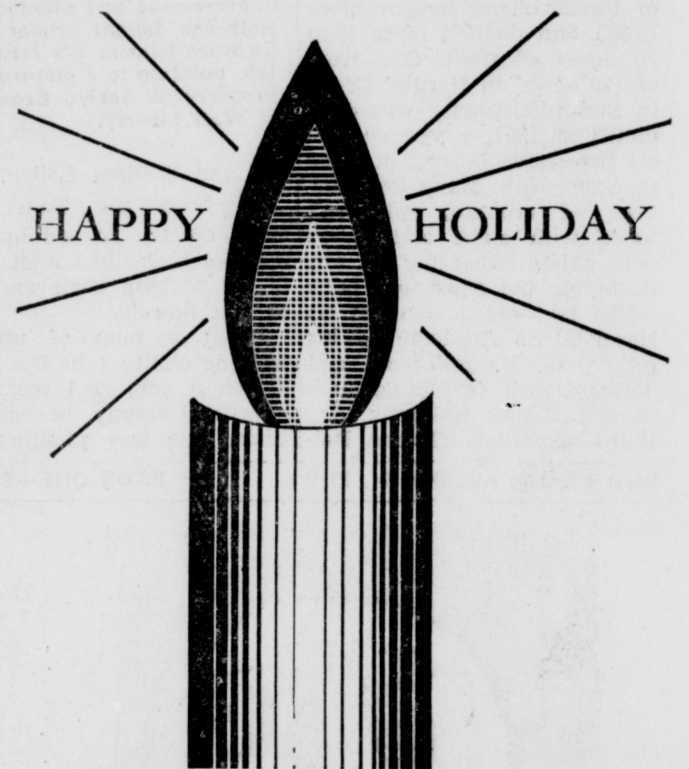

In making this announcement today, Paul D. Thompson, Office Manager, pointed out that Job Corps offers basic education, useful work experience and skill training. For young women, there is specialized training in the fields of nursing, medical secretary, keypunch operators, physical therapist, and many others. For the young men, there is training for heavy equipment operators, automobile mechanics, welders, carpenters and others.

"Job Corps has what it takes to give a guy or girl the chance to make it, not only on their own, but with interest of their own. When their training is completed, they will be given help by the Kentucky State Employment Service in finding a job, or they may decide to go on to school or join the Armed Forces," Mr. Thompson said.

Young men and women who are out of work and out of school should apply in person at the Kentucky State Employment Service, 126 Bradley Ave., Morehead, Ky. Phone 734-7538.

CUB SCOUTS PRESENT PROGRAM ON PIONEER THEME AT PACK MEET

West Liberty Cub Scout Pack 24 met for its November Pack meeting at the RECC for skits, and to present awards.

Den 3 conducted the Pledge Allegiance to the Flag. Theme for the month was Pioneers of America and Cubmaster Jimmy Adkins led in singing "Yankee Doodle," and other songs. Mrs. Adkins accompanied on the organ.

Bobcat pins were awarded by parents to Alan Lynn Oldfield and Tommy May and Cubmaster Adkins presented scouts and leaders their Cub Scout ID cards.

Den 2 honored Cubmaster Adkins with the "Grand Howl."

Den 3, under the leadership of Mrs. Parker May, presented a pantomime, "Story of Six Arrows." The skit stressed the traits of patience, bravery, friendship, unselfishness, honesty, and faith in the Great Spirit and featured Richard Romans as the old Indian Chief, William Parker May as Indian Chief, and the following scouts who portrayed Indians: Austin Thornberry, James Thornberry, Alan Oldfield, Tommy May, Tony Cleverger, and Dwayne Brooks. Den 2 presented a skit, "The Amazing Time Machine," in which two history students portrayed by Kevin Adkins and Billy Barber learn more about the lives of American pioneers from different walks. Featured in the skit were Richard Steele as Orville Wright; Danny Litteral as Paul Revere; Jeff Collins as Thomas Jefferson; Danny Litteral as Leland Stone; Alan Hill as Daniel Boone; Billy Barber as John Glenn; Alan Hill as Thomas Edison; Richard Steele as a caveman, and George Barber was the prop man.

The Cubby Award for most parents present went to Den 2. The Cub Scouts will hold their annual Christmas Party Saturday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m., at the West Liberty Christian Church.

NEW BRIDE'S DILEMMA

The young bride called on her next-door neighbor. "My husband's gone to shoot dice, and I'm worried," she moaned. "I don't know how to cook them."

"Don't be silly," replied Mrs. Green. "He doesn't even suspect anything."

MRS. LACY AUTHOR OF BOOKS, SONGS, AND NUMEROUS POEMS

ELSIE HALSEY LACY

Elsie Halsey Lacy of Grassy Creek is the author of four books: "Kentucky Verseland," "Characteristic Traits of Kentuckians," "A Lacy Sampler," and "From Kentucky Hills."

Mrs. Lacy has a Certificate of Membership with the Newspaper Institute of America and is approved as a correspondent under the laws of the State of New York.

She has been awarded third prize for her poem, "Our Mineral Spring," by the West Virginia Poetry Society in the Huntington division.

Also, she was duly elected to membership in the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Mrs. Lacy won the New Songwriters Award on her lyrics, "A Tranquil Mind" from Music City Songcrafters.

Her poem, "The Chain Swing" is printed on page 72 of "Young's Anthology," titled, "New Voices in the Wind."

Too, her poems have won contests in the Christian Writers Poetry Contest, and in "Westminster Magazine."

She sold some brief facts about "A Thirsty Snake," to "The Louisville Courier-Journal," two of her poems to "Mark Twain Journal," one to "Life and Health." Has had poems published in "Scimitar & Song," "Christian Home Messenger," "Poets Muses," "Corduroy Patch," the Ashland Independent Poetry Corner, Williamson News, and others too numerous to mention.

Christmas is close and we wish each one of the Courier staff and everyone a very Happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

A wise old weekly newspaper editor way out in Rupert, Idaho penned these few words: "Give a man a fish and he will eat for a day; teach him to fish and he will eat for a lifetime."

Mrs. Lacy wrote a recommendation for Katherine McClure Amyx on writing poetry while she was Postmaster of Grassy Postoffice, stressing on her poem TREES AFTER RAIN. This was printed in the Licking Valley Courier.

She has several of her own composed songs recorded. Two of them are now released: "This Hour" and "Memory." on Mickey Records and "Seven Of Us Music." (Pd.)

Dec. 21 — The youth group of the church here gave their annual program last night portraying the birth of Jesus. They were directed by their efficient leader, Brother Jimmy Adkins. The house was well filled and all seemed to enjoy the impressive program. These young people are doing a good job of rendering service to the church and community, and deserve our moral support. They often remember the elderly and shut-ins by visits and small remembrances of one kind and another. During the Thanksgiving Season, they drew more than $50.00 from their treasury and bought clothing for the children at Dora Lee Orphanage at Bloomington.

Mrs. Joyce Lemaster and children of Louisville visited with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lewis, and attended Sunday school Sunday morning.

Sewell Hamilton and Denzil Hill had business in Huntington Friday.

Bill Hampton of Morehead preached here Sunday to a large crowd.

Brother Charlie Frederick and Mrs. Frederick had all their families with them Sunday for their annual Christmas gathering. Brother Bill Hampton and Mrs. Hampton and Beth were also guests.

Sam Litteral and Bobby spent most of last week in New Jersey with the families of Gerald and Dickie Litteral.

Orbin Pack of West Liberty visited Sunday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Buford Pack. Buford is still unable to return to work.

Bonnie Cox reported last night that she was called yesterday and informed of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles Cox of Hazard.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Crouch of Lebanon, Ohio, spent from Friday night till Sunday morning with her parents, the Buford Packs.

Miss Brenda Cottle, Alfred and Esch Gay Johnson of Morehead University and Richard Williams from Mayo Vocational school of Ashland are home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Hill and daughters of Route 3 West Liberty were Sunday dinner guests of her parents here.

We want to send get well wishes to Mrs. Lattie Peyton, Raymond Linton, Chalmer Allen, and Alice Hill, all members of the West Liberty Eastern Star.

To The Courier staff, the readers, and all our many friends, the best of everything for the holiday season and throughout the year.

HIS HELICOPTER SHOT DOWN—WO-1 Gena A. Harper was unhurt when his medical evacuation helicopter was shot down by enemy fire in Vietnam Nov. 17. Harper, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harper of Rt. 3 West Liberty, was pilot of a helicopter rescue mission when enemy bullets hit the fuel tank and forced him down. But he and his crew were able to make their rescue of wounded soldiers. He is married to the former Opal Lykins, daughter of Lena Lykins of Cannel City, and she and the three children live at Fort Knox. WO-1 Harper completed flight training at Fort Rucker, Ala., and took advanced medical courses at Fort Sam Houston, Texas to qualify for piloting rescue helicopters in Vietnam. He had completed 14 years of service in the Army, having served in Korea, Germany and Thailand.

Jail sentences up to six months and fines up to $500 are authorized, in a bill approved by the U. S. Senate Public Works Committee, for littering lakes or other reservoirs administered by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The provision was inserted in a waterways bill at the request of U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who said such pollution has become a problem — particularly on Lake Cumberland.

"It's a disgrace that many camping and picnicking areas and the banks of many lakes are cluttered with trash," Cooper said.

The littering law applies to Cave Run reservoir, near Morehead, now under construction with probable opening to the public in 1973.

WRIGLEY DOWNS WOLFE COUNTY FOR SIXTH WIN

The Wrigley Elementary Wildcats, in their first home net game clobbered Wolfe County Elementary, 80-65, to revenge themselves for an earlier 40-37 defeat at the hands of the Baby Wolves.

Leading Wrigley's romp was Steve O'Conner with 36 points. Rocky Howard, with a hot hand, tossed in 17. Also in double figures was Kevin Ratliff, who netted 14. Other scoring for Wrigley was by Ralph Ratliff with 8 and Gary Ferguson with 5.

The Wildcats, who led, 62-44, at the end of the third period, ran into a Wolfe County rally in the final quarter, but were in no danger.

High scorers for Wolfe County were Johnson with 17 and Campbell with 15.

The victory was Wrigley's sixth against two losses. The Wildcats, who were runnersup in the Morgan County Junior High Invitational Tournament, are averaging 53.5 points per game while holding their opponents to an average of 31 points.

1971 ACP Farm Program Highlights Are Announced

Several new regulations for 1971 agricultural conservation farm programs have recently been released according to Jack Welch, chairman of the Kentucky State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

The program highlights are: —Signed period for the feed grain, wheat and cotton programs will be March 1 through April 9. Between now and March 1 all details are expected to be announced about the programs which will be operated under the new farm law, The Agriculture Act of 1970.

—Final determinations on set-aside acreages have not been made, but a tentative 20 per cent set-aside for feed grain and a set-aside of between 60 and 75 per cent domestic wheat allotment have been announced. The set-asides for these two crops will not exceed 20 per cent on feed grains and 75 percent on wheat. The cotton set-asides will not exceed 20 per cent of the farm acreage allotment.

These tentative set-asides are planned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the purpose of the special January Farmers' Planting Intentions Report Decision on the actual percentages will be made before March 1.

NEW CONCEPT

"Set-aside is an important new concept," the ASC Committee chairman said. "Under the set-aside programs for feed grain, wheat and cotton, a participating farmer will set aside a certain percentage of his base or allotment and put this acreage in a conserving use. He will also maintain his farm's conserving base in conserving use.

"On his remaining cropland he will be free to plant whatever he chooses, except that he cannot grow crops which are under marketing quotas—rice, tobacco, extra long staple cotton and sugarcane, unless he has farm allotments for these."

"A farmer in the feed grain or wheat programs will receive set-aside payments whether or not he produces the program crop. For cotton program participants, failure to plant at least 90 per cent of the farm's base acreage allotment will result in a reduction in payment," Mr. Welch said.

NO ACREAGE LIMITATION

He re-emphasized that participants in any of the three programs—feed grain, wheat, or cotton—have no acreage limitation on production other than the required set-aside acreage and maintenance of their farm's conserving base.

"For example, suppose a farmer has 300 cropland acres, including a 100-acre feed grain base and a 50-acre conserving base. Now suppose we do have a 20 per cent set-aside for feed grains—remember, however, that 20 per cent is still a tentative figure. The farmer sets aside 20 per cent—20 acres of his feed grain base, maintains his 50-acre conserving base, and is free to plant the remaining 230 acres to whatever crops he chooses, except he can't plant the quota crops mentioned earlier. He can plant corn, soybeans, grain sorghum, cotton, vegetables or specialty crops—whatever crops or combination of crops he figures will bring him the best returns for his investment," Mr. Welch said.

The example cited would be just as true for wheat and cotton participants as for feed grain, he said. "The important thing for farmers to remember in planning for 1971 is that the feed grain, wheat and cotton programs provide them flexibility in their farm management, allowing more efficient operations than the more restrictive programs of past years."

Final set-aside percentages will not be announced until additional information is received by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, such as the special January Farmers' Planting Intentions Report, and further data on 1970 crop production.

PROGRAM PAYMENTS

—Preliminary program payments will be made to producers as soon as practicable after July 1. It is expected the preliminary payment will represent a major portion of the total payment a producer will earn. In any event, no producer refund will be required if the preliminary payment for any of these crops proves to be higher than the full payment due the farmer. —Participants in the 1971 feed grain set-aside program will be guaranteed a national average of $1.35 a bushel on production from half their corn base, and $1.24 a bushel ($2.21 a hundredweight) on half their sorghum base. The feed grain set-aside payment will be equal to the difference between the national average price received by farmers during the first five months of the marketing year and the guarantee.

NO WHEAT ALLOTMENT

—No National wheat acreage allotment totaling 19.7 million acres. Participating wheat growers will receive 100 per cent of parity on the production of their full domestic allotment.

—For cotton growers, the preliminary set-aside payment rate to program participants has been set at 15 cents per pound. The final payment, together with the five-month average market price in the designated spot markets for middling one-inch cotton, must equal the higher of 35 cents a pound or 65 per cent of parity as of the beginning of the marketing year.

LOAN RATES

—Loan rates have been announced for several 1971 crops. For program participants price-support loans will be available on wheat at a national average of $1.25 a bushel; corn at $1.08 a bushel for No. 2; grain sorghum at $1.73 a hundredweight, and cotton at 19.5 cents a pound for middling one - inch upland 4.9) on a net weight basis at cotton (micronaire 3.5 through average location).

—Participation in the set-aside programs is not required to obtain price-support loans on the following crops: soybeans, at $2.25 a bushel. No. 1 grade; barley, at 81 cents a bushel; oats, at 54 cents a bushel and rye, at 89 cents a bushel. Loan levels are the national average, so county rates will vary somewhat from these averages.

Additional details on the new farm programs will be announced on a program-by-program basis, the ASC Committee chairman said.

EAST KY. UTILITY SUPPLIERS ASKING PSC FOR RATE BOOSTS

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. — Rising costs of producing coal and gas are coming back home to consumers in the coal and gas fields of Eastern Kentucky in the form of rate increases sought by utility suppliers.

Higher costs, including coal supplies, maintenance material and wage increases, were cited to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for almost $4 million in increases asked by 13 publicly-owned, rural electric co-operatives, including the Big Sandy RECC here, according to Ed O'Rear, in charge of PSC rates division at Frankfort.

The Big Sandy RECC, serving Floyd, Johnson, Martin and parts of Magoffin, Knott and Lawrence Counties, seeks the lowest annual amount of $135,594, which Manager Bill Wells of Prestonsburg said Friday was a 16 percent increase for the co-op's 5,200 customers.

The Fleming-Mason RECC at Flemingsburg, serving more than 14,000 consumers in Rowan, Fleming, Lewis, Bath and adjacent counties seeks $340,145.

Both are among 12 of the 14 local co-ops supplied by the East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative, based at Winchester, which asks an annual increase of $750,751.

Harold Haight, manager of the Grayson Co-op serving 7,100 consumers in Boyd, Greenup, Carter, Elliott and parts of Lawrence and Rowan Counties, said Friday his co-op expects to follow suit soon with a rate increase request.

James W. Elam, office manager of Licking Valley RECC at West Liberty, indicated a rate hike would result from a "long, hard look" at the situation.

He said the group had not received a rate increase in about 20 years, while rate reductions have been effected three times since 1950.

The Licking Valley RECC furnishes 8,050 consumers in Morgan, Magoffin, Breathitt, Perry, Wolfe and parts of Elliott and Menifee counties.

O'Rear said protests of Allen and Right Beaver area residents to proposed gas rate increases sought by the Ohio-Ky. Utility Co., Prestonsburg, in a Dec. 15 hearing, have prompted a second session for Jan. 12 at 3 p.m. at Frankfort.

The Prestonsburg firm seeks a minimum monthly billing of $3.25 for the first 2,000 cubic feet, with a scale in increases as use becomes heavier.
